David Copperfield

A play by Matthew Francis

Adapted from the novel by Charles Dickens

14 - 22 May 2010

Charles Dickens' semi-autobiographical novel David Copperfield is brought vividly to life in Matthew Francis' colourful and fast-moving adaptation.

Full of energy and vitality the play chronicles young David's journey from happy infancy through brutality, adversity, friendships won and lost, to mature love and contentment.

Along the way we encounter a gallery of Dickens' brilliantly drawn characters, among them Mr Micawber, Betsy Trotwood, Uriah Heep, Steerforth, Traddles and the endearing Peggotty family.

Of all his novels Dickens loved this the best and the play reflects that love and provides a memorable theatrical experience.

Seat prices from £7.00 to £10.00
